DOCKET NO. W-01737A-12-0478

REQUEST TO EXTEND DEADLINE IN DECISION 74294 FOR TANK
RECOATING

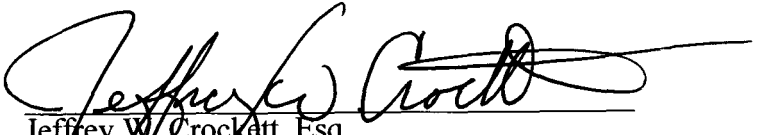

In Decision 74294, the Arizona Corporation Commission ("Commission") ordered New River Utility Company ("New River" or the "Company") to file documentation by June 2, 2014, establishing that recoating work for the Company's 1,000,000 gallon storage tank has been completed and showing the final invoiced amount for the work. For the reasons discussed below, New River requests a one-year extension of the deadline for completing the tank recoating work.

Decision 74294 authorized new increased rates and charges for New River which were implemented in March 2014. However, over the past year, the Company has incurred significant unexpected costs for repairs on its wells and pumps. In May and June of 2013, New River incurred $158,482.32 in expenses to repair two of its wells and pumps. Then, earlier this month, the Company had to perform additional repair work on a pump and well at a cost of approximately $100,000. The cost of the tank recoating for the 1,000,000 gallon storage tank will be $133,000 and New River does not have the funds to complete the work at this time. Additionally, the tank recoating must be done during the winter months when water demand on the system is lower. For these reasons, New River requests that the Commission extend the deadline for completing the tank recoating work on the 1,000,000 gallon tank by one year, through and including June 2, 2015.
